"Pay Up Or We'll Take Up" Says City On Paving Project

LYONS' STATION SOLD TO MR. T. R. ALLEN

Belle Glade gains a family in the selling of the Lyons Standard Service Station at the NW corner of South Main Street and Avenue E to Mr. T. R. Allen, a former citizen of Georgia.

Mr. Allen brings with him his daughter and his son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Cook who have a 22 month old daughter.

The family will occupy a home in Stydia Heights and both Mr. Allen and Mr. Cook will be active in the operation of the business.

Mr. Allen has been serving the public for some 20 years, a part of which time was traveling in Florida. He selected the Glades as a progressive business community with folks of his caliber and grand children.

The newcomers expect to become identified as a part of the community where the feeling of being "at home" will become natural.

The community welcomes the newcomers and will attempt to hasten the getting of "muck in your shoes".

Five Local Scouts Attending Second National Jamboree

Five Scouts and Explorer Scouts from Belle Glade left Monday afternoon on the Miami from West Palm Beach, to attend the second National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa. Four cars were reserved on the train for the boys from the Florida area.

The other Explorers Scouts, Ronald Jones, age 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jones, Fred LeFils, age 17, son of Mr. Dick LeFils; Curtis Thompson age 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Thompson, all sponsored by the Eagle Scout, Robert Burke, colored, was sent by the Colored Civic League.

Present from Belle Glade to see the boys off were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jones, Mr. F. A. LeFils and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thompson. The boys believe it was quite a sight to see the boys board the train with their swap knapsacks, packs, and rucksacks. Boys from Florida area carried alligators, turtles, ocean water, Lake Okeechobee water, bamboo, pound bags of muck, etc. (Continued on Page 4)

Coach Maynor Accepts Position At Pahokee

Assistant Coach James Maynor will be the new coach of the school football squad starting with the new school term. Maynor has accepted the position of head coach at Pahokee High School, according to Howell L. Watkins, county superintendent.

The appointment was made by the school board.

Maynor has been assistant to Coach Doug Leavitt here and is regarded as one of the most promising young coaches in the county school system. Watkins says.

Maynor succeeds Clyde Ally, who resigned the school position to become city clerk.

MEETING SCHEDULED TO ORGANIZE CONCERT BAND

Band director, Howard Payne, will be here to conduct the band held next Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in the High School Auditorium, for the purpose of organizing a summer concert band.

Anyone who would enjoy participating in a concert band, of High School age or, is urged to attend.

Enrollment in the summer band program has reached 40 members, as of Wednesday this week, according to Mr. Payne.

Classes are being held at Lake Sibb Bay Monday morning, 8:30 to 9:30 a. m. and 1:30 to 3:30 p. m. In Belle Glade 8:30 to 12:30 and 1:00 to 3:00, Monday afternoon, thru Friday morning.

Corn Production Increases Due To Cattle Fattening

Field Corn Is Grown Cheaply When Coordinated With Bean Crops

Proof that one industry sponsors another is the rapid growth of the Glades field corn program spurred by the cattle industry. Present acreage will probably double next year if the cattle fattening program continues at its present rate.

Indications show that the total summer production of corn will be approximately 6,000 tons. Approximately 5,000 acres of corn will yield 40 to 60 bushels per acre, according to authorities' estimates. The summer crop, sold to feed mixers, will be worth $30,000 based on $50 per ton.

Total value will be increased if used to fatten cattle this coming winter. Cattlemen will feed approximately 25 per cent of the corn produced in the supplementary program. On the basis of eight pounds per head a day for 120 days a total of 3,000 tons will be consumed by 6,000 cattle.

The crop is comparatively inexpensive to grow when coordinated with bean crops. For example—rows of corn can be used for windbreaks instead of sunflowers. At the time of the last bean cultivation, farmers can plant alternate rows of corn. Another feature adding to economic utilization of the last two bean crops for the cattle.

Harvesting is approximately five dollars per ton. By selling the crop, farmers can generally make their land rent for the entire year or use the corn to better advantage by feeding the better cattle.

Due to the high moisture content of the corn in the Glades when field dried, it should be artificially dehydrated for preservation, authorities say.

Going from here were David Anderson, age 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, who are members of the Community Methodist Church. The other Explorers Scouts, Ronald Jones, age 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Jones, Fred LeFils, age 17, son of Mr. Dick LeFils; Curtis Thompson age 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. JONES SPEAKS ON WATER PROBLEMS AT CONVENTION

Pointing out the importance of water conservation in Florida and emphasizing the dangers of water shortage, Luther Jones, addressed the Bookkeepers and Accountants Convention Friday night at the Biltmore Hotel in Palm Beach.

"We are finding out what scientists have been telling us for years," Jones said.

The water problem is of tremendous importance to the people of Florida, authorities say. Its solution will require the state's best technical minds and a lot of money.

Failure on the part of Florida to resolve their water troubles can be disastrous. Remedies will be slow in realization, therefore, planning is necessary now.

Divided We Stand

Action without coordination lacks effect and force. Results are not in direct proportion to work expended. Energy is lost.

Belle Glade and surrounding Glades communities work without this economy device within their organizations' framework.

The human body operates with comparative efficiency due to a central organism, the brain. Likewise, community functions and affairs demand a centralized coordinating mechanism for effective operation.

Webster says of the word "coordinate": "To arrange as in proper and relative order; to harmonize; to combine for a common action or purpose."

A coordinating committee is the answer. One representative from each organization would participate on the body. Dates for functions would be assigned to avoid conflicts and division of participants.

This is especially necessary in small communities where the popularized belongs to numerous organizations simultaneously.

The coordination committee idea was spearheaded by John T. Pickett in the summer of 1948 when he attempted to organize such a body to include several Glades communities.

American Legion posts in Belle Glade, South Bay, Canal Point and Pahokee took the reins and appointed their members. Various other organizations including the Elks and Rotary clubs also appointed representatives.

Congratulations were offered the originator for his brain child, and then the project was left to die a quick natural death.

Belle Glade has approximately 15 civic, women's, social, community and fraternal organizations. Surrounding communities of South Bay, Pahokee and Canal Point have their proportionate number.

Each group has a purpose for existing and each has its own community projects. The aims and goals are worthy but often at cross purposes.

For instance, car rallies were held by two groups on the same date in the past; consequently, neither encountered the success they would have had otherwise. The same efforts would have brought greater proceeds if the public had not been divided.

If Belle Glade would shoulder the idea, other Glades communities would follow, in fact, some promises have been made.

Right now during the summer season, is the time to act. Functions for next season could be synchronized.

If one organization would take the lead, others would follow. Don't condemn the suggestion with the faint praise that it is a good idea.

Third, it appears that the income support prices promised by Brannan are so high that they would certainly lead to the imposition of marketing quotas at a given level. Certainly, says the author, the price fixers in the present Act, which he expected that government shall guarantee a profitable return to any one group.

Second in line, the Farm Bureau and other opponents of the Brannan Plan deny that it will bring the cost of food down. Instead, it is argued, the cost of food will be concealed in taxes, and the total cost would actually be higher because the Brannan Plan underwriters higher returns to farmers.

The Brannan Plan ignores that less than one-half of a dollar standard year after year.

Fourth, the Brannan Plan, with its direct payments to the farmer, makes farmers dependent on checks from the treasury in order to have any net income.

Many farmers are worried that if Congress can be relied on to appropriate the sums necessary to bring income up to Brannan's standard year after year.

Finally, the Brannan Plan, with its direct payments to the farmer, makes farmers dependent on checks from the treasury in order to have any net income.
